

Joyce Blanchard

Joyce is currently a senior at Florida State University. She will graduate in December, 2018, majoring in Risk Management and Insurance. Recently, she was able to present research on the effects of government charity hazard on insurance markets at Ludwig Maximilian University. She is interested in claims and underwriting.