

Robert A. Danielson, P.E.
B.S. Agricultural Engineering

Robert Danielson graduated from Texas A&M University with a Bachelor of Science degree in Agricultural Engineering. He is an Senior Engineer at Haag Engineering Co. in Burnsville, Minnesota, and is licensed as a Professional Civil Engineer in Arkansas, Colorado, Florida, Illinois, Iowa, Louisiana, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, Oklahoma, South Dakota, Texas, and Wisconsin. Mr. Danielson is currently a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers and the American Society of Agricultural and Biological Engineers.

Rob Danielson has been with Haag Engineering since 2009, and has inspected and assessed damage to hundreds of roofs. His primary areas of consulting are structural evaluations, construction-related failure and damage assessments, and wind engineering issues and related storm effects.