

Robert J Donahue Jr., AIC, is a National General Adjuster at Sedgwick with over two decades in the insurance industry specializing in Large Complex Residential, Commercial, Power and Industrial Losses for domestic and foreign insurers. He started his career as a Paramedic and Contractor before finding his true passion in the adjusting world in 1997. His career started as multi-lines adjuster in upstate NY with Crawford & Company where he quickly became a General Adjuster in Boston, MA. He has spent the last 11+ years with VeriClaim/Sedgwick where he has been the National Director of Training and a National General Adjuster.

Robert is a Continuing Education Provider as well as an Instructor for several states while maintaining an adjuster's license for multiple states. He has taught at several major conferences along with providing private quality education classes to top insurers. His key passion is to provide insight on new technology, data analytics and the ever changing role of the adjuster.
