

John Glissmeyer is the manager of strategic training for Xactware. John oversees the Xactimate Certified Trainer program and strategic training initiatives, including the use and implementation of Xactware's self-paced eLearning Modules. He began work at Xactware in 2009 in the finance department and then moved to training where he was a certified trainer, senior trainer, and XCT team lead before assuming his current position. Before joining Xactware, John was a contractor and a real estate broker. He has a bachelor's degree from the University of Phoenix and an MBA from Western Governors University.