

Jeff Taxier CV for PLRB 2017 Annual Conference

Jeff Taxier has over 39 years of experience in the insurance and restoration industries. Mr. Taxier spent most of his career with Allstate Insurance Company, where he held a variety of increasingly challenging management positions in California prior to his accepting a position as a Home Office Consultant at Allstate's prestigious Claims Training Center at Tech-Cor in Wheeling, Illinois.

Mr. Taxier's experience includes being the Property Claims Manager for Allstate's Southern California office. He has assisted in the management of numerous catastrophes for Allstate, including Hurricane Andrew and the Northridge Earthquake.

While at the Tech-Cor facility, Mr. Taxier assisted with the re-design of the Property Curriculum, for which he was awarded Allstate's Distinguished Service Award. He also participated in the development of Allstate's state of the art dispatch system. Mr. Taxier has also created numerous web based and on-line training courses.

Mr. Taxier is a previous presenter at PLRB Annual, Regional and Large Loss Conferences. He has also presented at the Xactware User's Conference, International Air Quality Association (IAQA), Risk and Insurance Managers Society (RIMS), International Facilities Managers Association (IFMA) and the University Risk Manager's (URMIA) annual conferences.

In his current role as Education and Training Manager for American Technologies Inc. Mr. Taxier is working with internal and external clients to provide technical, behavioral and leadership training.

He has a Bachelor of Arts in English from Loyola Marymount University and is a Masters Candidate in Instructional Technology at Northern Illinois University. He holds the Senior Claim Law Associate (SCLA) designation from the American Insurance Institute, as well as certificates in Water Damage Restoration, Applied Structural Drying and Fire and Smoke Restoration from the IICRC.
